Editorial.

A welcome for all to Rutgers Prep. It has been a real school in former days, and everyone here believes it to be a real school now. When President Demarest, Prep '79, gave us that fine chapel talk on the first morning, it made me feel proud to be the head of such a school, and I believe we all felt a pride in our connection with it. Founded in 1766, or more likely 1760, is it a strong growing tree, like the giants of the forest, or is it an old ruin like some of the houses built a century and a half ago? The answer is found in the comparison itself. Prep is like a tree. It is alive. Every year it grows it adds another ring, it roots more solidly, it becomes a fixture in the landscape. It is not preserved by patching the outside, but by feeding the life within. I like to think of it as planted by the rivers of water, bringing forth its fruit in its season with no withering leaves, and always prospering in its fine work. All round the big world are men of affairs whose memories bring them back to this spot. Maybe they feel that they owe something of their present success to this school. Maybe they feel proud that they went to school here with this or that man who has made a name for himself since. Anyhow, that is all going to be your experience some day. After we have laughed over the humorous prophecies of Class Day, let us realize more seriously that the energy and brains that are making our good school spirit, good athletics, good scholarship, good morale generally, are bound to make winners of these fellows when they get into life's big game.

I am glad to welcome you to the comradeship of Prep boys of to-day and Prep men of the past. May the spirit of victory descend upon you, and may it be true of you this year as it was with our Yankee boys in France, that they never yielded ground but always went forward. And as the winners of that grand fight will re-visit in memory San Mihiel and Argonne, may you return in future days to the Prep campaign of 1919-20 and to your comrades in victory. Welcome, comrades. Onward!

WILLIAM P. KELLY, Headmaster.

To you, the newcomers in the Rutgers Preparatory School, we, the members of the ARGO board, extend the warmest welcome. At the beginning of a new year we are endeavoring to make the name ARGO mean something to each one of you.

The ARGO is a very important factor in school life. It educates students in a literary line, by encouraging them to write stories and poems, by enabling them to make lively reports on supposedly dead subjects. It entertains every reader by its articles and gives information in many lines. The ARGO gives to other schools our spirit and "pep." It forms a channel between schools through which helpful criticisms constantly flow. It forms an incentive for improvement; we wish each copy to be better than the last and better than our exchanges. It gives each student a souvenir of the year and a complete history of school life. It presents an opportunity to those, who otherwise may be unable, to show their school spirit.

With the opening of this year, the ARGO looks into the future with great hopes. Things will be happening in school which will fill the news pages. Games will be played to keep the athletic editor busy. Comical mistakes will be made that will supply its sort of material. Writers of poetry and prose will doubtless be found in the school who will do their bit in the literary line. Students suitable for the positions of editors will be selected, and all will pull together to make this year the best possible.

As school starts anew, so the ARGO starts anew, and with a beginning such as this many things are needed. The ARGO needs editors, boys capable at least of continuing the old standard, ones who will try their hardest to improve and ones who will succeed in the attempt. Besides editors who will manufacture the paper, the ARGO needs material for them to work with. Good, live stories are constantly being written. The ARGO needs them and asks their authors to correct them, copy them and hand them in. Also the ARGO needs "ads." A man cannot live without food and drink, neither can a school paper flourish without some money behind to produce it. If any of you know of a person who would likely advertise, do your utmost to get that advertisement.

Thus we, the editors have explained to you, students of Rutgers Prep, the advantages, hopes and needs of the ARGO. Take it to heart and all push together to make this year the best in the history of the school.

School News

ASHER ATKINSON, JR.

September 17, 1919, will be a date remembered in many minds. On the morning of that day school started and with it everything started: the ARGO, athletics, and last, but not least (we only wish it would be least), lessons. The opening exercises were long and interesting. Prep spirit and tradition was rubbed in from all directions. "Nate" Scudder '20, did his share and did it well, as one from our midst. "Doc" Cook performed his part with "Just a word," as one of the faculty. The share of the alumni was delivered by President Demarest of the college. This last address touched upon many points, including the age of the school, its success in producing successful men, and its traditions, aims and purposes. Mr. Kelly then spoke on the prospects of this school year. A musical program was furnished by Miss Garretson, Mrs. Midkiff, and Miss Boynton. The exercises closed with a few cheers, led by Shiro Watari, and "Dear Old Prep School."

The faculty has undergone a few changes. "Mike" Gerome, a teacher here in the 1916-17 year, has returned to us again. Mr. Allen is new, but he soon will get used to Prep ways and will be the same as any teacher, no matter how long he has been here. The other teachers are still here and as far as can be noticed have not changed. Mr. Overbagh is still here to hustle up the ARGO material, Mr. Cook has returned to make us "write fifty times —"; Mr. Midkiff still makes us work in athletics; and Mr. Kelly keeps the school running.

In a class by themselves we find "Cap" and Miss Searle, who are still performing school duties as usual.

Then in the student body whom do we find? Here are Chamberlain and Shaw from Chicago, and Baker from Detroit. From the south come Gamboa of Mexico and the two Jurados from Panama, while Hernandez comes from Colombia. From the islands of the sea come the students, Leviti from St. Thomas; Sayres and Scudder, who hail from Honolulu; Watari and Schmidzu come from Japan, and "Nate" Scudder from India. Many of the fellows live in Greater New York, other towns along the Hudson, and throughout the state. There are fellows in our midst who come from all parts of New England as well. Others come from towns throughout New Jersey too numerous to mention. The day fellows are about the same ones that came here last year, but in addition we have new ones from the Elementary School. As commuters we have Wright, who rides in state on car number 2, R. R. R. R.; Christensen of Sayreville; Devoe, Drake and Prentice, of South River; Kuhlthau from Milltown, and Clark of New Brunswick, come to the door of the school in the trolley. Gillespie Richardson, and Hemingway come from Bound Brook. The old commuters on the "Pennsy," Chamberlain from Rahway and Hansen and Hofer from the "brainy borough" have been joined by Hartley, the pianist of Kearney. Besides these we have with us three midgets, Blume and the two Waldrons.

No sooner had school opened than we started in on athletics. A board talk was held which thirty candidates attended. At the same meeting the football "togs" were ordered. We have fine material in the school, and under Coach Midkiff's coaching our school has fine prospects for a successful season.

On Thursday, September 18, a meeting of the Senior Class was held in order to get things under way. At that meeting the ring committee was elected. Those chosen were Scudder, Gillespie and Atkinson.

Coach Midkiff was called away on Friday, the 19th, to referee a game. Practice on that day was conducted under the supervision of Scudder, Kingman and Eckrode. Scudder instructed the line, Kingman the back-field, and Eckrode the ends.

On Monday, September 22, Ritscher, a graduate of last year, returned to take a post-graduate course here in preparation for college. He has taken his post again as football manager and was out on the job at the next practice.

There was a Students' Association meeting held on Thursday, at which the work of the season was discussed. This meeting was held in preparation for an election of officers in the near future.

LOYAL CITIZENSHIP

MESSAGES FROM GREAT LEADERS

Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in schools, in seminaries, and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books and in almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpits, proclaimed in legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice, and, in short, let it become the political religion of the nation. —Abraham Lincoln.

This is a democratic government, and the voice of the people, expressed through the machinery provided by the Constitution for its expression and by constitutional majorities, is supreme. Every loyal citizen must obey. This is the fundamental principle of the government.

TRAP NOTES

JACK R. RAIFF.

With the opening of school Tuesday, September 16, came many new fellows, among whom are some who have just received their discharge papers from the army in the past year.

Jay Chamberlain was formerly in the Forty-second Division. He spent over two of his eighteen months overseas in a hospital, due to his being gassed.

C. H. Moore trained in England as an aviation mechanic for four months, but failed to reach France. He spent three weeks in a hospital with influenza, which he contracted on the Mauretania while returning to this country.

Raymond Scudder and Sayres, both from Hawaii, were in the Signal Corps, but did not get overseas. Ray is a cousin of "Nate" Scudder.

Mr. Gerome was overseas with the Medical Corps. Although a "Prof," "Mike" seems more like one of the fellows. He taught here at Prep two years ago but left to go to France on "government business."

In the Delta House the new men not already mentioned are, T. Wood from Newburg, who is out for football; Hill from Nutley, N. J., out for football; Baker from Detroit, out for the ARGO Board; Kingman from Newark, out for football; and Stumpf from Long Island.

In the Gamma House are Shaw from Chicago; Mosquera from New York City; Beekman from Somerville, out for football; Noyes from Lake George, who is out for the ARGO Board, and Ide from St. Johnsbury, Vermont.

The first night the Trap was opened Mr. Kelly held a reception to the new men at the Beta House. The old fellows introduced themselves to the new ones. "On the Banks," "Dear Old Prep School" and other songs were sung. Cheers were taught, and on the whole an enjoyable evening spent.

After supper, the evening of September 16, Mr. Kelly met the Trap students under the flagpole in front of the Beta House. Mr. Overbagh explained Prep life and gave the various rules and customs, not forgetting the "mark" system, in order that the new men might get started right.

Evening "sings," which are new here at Prep, have been started. After supper, if the weather permits the fellows meet on the front lawn and sing college and other songs with the help of Mr. Allen and his mandolin. Singing, though most people do not recognize it, is one of the most important factors of college or preparatory school life. The fellows this year have taken hold of the idea and some have even inquired among the fellows as to whether they could sing or not, hoping to find enough singers in the school to start a glee club. A mandolin club is already under way.

Mr. Allen comes to us this year to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Basy who, it is rumored, has joined the United States Navy. Few of the fellows even after being introduced to him thought him to be a "Prof" until after classes had started.

All the old fellows were glad to welcome Mrs. Overbagh and John back to the Trap Sunday, September 28.

Every one of the fellows at Mr. Overbagh's table, or table number one, is out for football. Its the only table of its kind in the school. Give them credit.

On Tuesday, September 26, Ritscher returned. Although he graduated from Prep last year he lacked a few subjects necessary for college entrance.

Another new man arrived September 28, Richter, formerly of Peekskill Military Academy, Peekskill, N. Y.

The morning of the first Sunday of Prep's new year was spent in the college chapel. Dr. Demarest gave an address on the "Gifts of God." These gifts were courage, power, common sense, and love. The address was on a practical subject and was given in such a way that everyone might understand.

The night of Sunday, September 20, Mr. Kelly met the two "upper houses" in the club-room of the Delta House. He explained life in New Brunswick and the different classes of citizens in the different parts of town.

A new flag flies daily from the staff in front of the dormitories. As the workman in charge was not always punctual in raising and lowering it, Bailey Sayres, who has been serving in the army, asked the privilege of raising it in the morning and lowering it at sunset. Thus the flag appeals to the heart of every soldier. Let us all give it the greatest respect and honor.

The graduate manager of athletics telephoned up from Rutgers College on Friday afternoon to invite the whole Prep school to the first Rutgers College football game. It was regretted that the day fellows could not be reached, but as many as could attended. The day was perfect and the attendance was enough to fill the big grandstands.

Students and teachers at the Trap met in the Delta House club-room for an hour on Sunday evening, September 28, to discuss informally the organizing of a Trap Association. Gillespie '20, was elected temporary chairman and led off with a general statement in behalf of Student responsibility. The discussion was very lively and

WHO'S WHO ON THE FACULTY.

Headmaster William P. Kelly returned with his family and others of the household early in September, after a healthful summer spent at his cottage on the shore of Caspian Lake, Greensboro, Vermont. Mr. Kelly looks to be in fine trim for the beginning of the new year.

Morris E. Midkiff, better known as Coach, spent most of his summer in the employ of the school at New Brunswick. During the summer he was visited by his brother "Bob," an American army aviator who recently flew in the New York-Toronto flight and who also holds the world's record for keeping his machine in actual service for the greatest number of hours.

J. C. Overbagh, whose principal occupation these days is hustling in copy for the ARGO, spent his vacation at his home town, Saugerties, N. Y., building a house, and reports there is nothing like it.

Announcements were received this summer of the marriage, on Saturday, August 23, at Locust Farm, Morris Plains, N. J., of Miss Loraine Cairns Harrison to Mr. John Romaine Riker, Jr. Mrs. Riker has resumed her duties as teacher in the Elementary School and is also in general charge of the Alpha House at the Trap. Mr. Riker is a prominent member of the senior class at Rutgers College and a pitcher on the varsity baseball team.

Mr. T. Roosevelt Allen has enlisted in our ranks this year as teacher of French and Spanish. Mr. Allen graduated from Harvard College in 1916, where he was prominent as a baseball player and as a musician. He is now living in the Alpha House and has already made himself popular with everybody.

Mention elsewhere is made of the return of Mr. Jerome, better known as "Mike." Mr. Jerome is in charge of the Latin department of the school and everyone is glad to see him back.

No, we haven't forgotten Mr. Cook. He is right back among us with his winning smile, his friendly word and his mighty handgrip. We believe he spent the summer on the farm, getting up his muscle so he can handle our new football huskies in study-hall.

lasted an hour. The teachers gave many helpful ideas of the many ways an honor system can influence all our school life, and predicted that the spirit among the present boys was distinctly favorable to its success this year. Many of the fellows told of their experiences and their purposes at this time and how the acceptance of responsibility for the Trap developed both the fellows in charge, and the others too.

It was the general opinion that selection of boys to act in the house committees should be postponed till after the first monthly reports are out. The meeting was one of the best we ever had and showed a fine spirit toward the school life on the part of everybody.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS AS VIEWED BY THE COACH.

The prospects for a winning season are better this year than at any time since my connection with Prep. Several things contribute to this.

First, we have six letter men back from last year: Gillespie and Eckrode at ends, Scudder and Kuhlthau at tackles, Watari at guard, and Rowland at halfback. There are also several good substitutes from last year who just missed making their letters. Of the new men, only one has had much experience, but several are larger than we usually have and all are trying hard.

The second thing that is going to help in the development of a winning team is the spirit of the men themselves. All are working harder and show a disposition to make amends for the past two years. We have set state championship as our goal and we are working with that end in view.

Taking up the team individually, we observe the following: Captain Eckrode will quite likely be shifted to quarterback, where his experience and ability will be more useful to the team. Rowland will again play right halfback, and, for his size, he is as good as any man in the state. Kingman, a new man from East Side High School in Newark, will play full; Bill knows the game well and is a hard worker. At present Tim Wood looks best at left half, while for backfield substitutes we have Parker, Manning, A. Atkinson and Anderson. Though inexperienced these men are trying their best. The ends will likely be Gillespie and Sayres, with Stocker and Wright alternates. All are fast (two exceptionally so), can handle forwards well and will soon learn to be sure

Alumni

'82. Rev. Lewis B. Chamberlain has moved from New Brunswick to Lydecker street, Englewood, N. J. His daughters, Mary and Ann, will be missed at the Prep School dances.

12. Raymond Strohl has re-entered the electrical engineering course in Rutgers College, after an absence of three years in the service. He was chief electrician in the Navy and was stationed much of the time at Wexford, Ireland.

'13. Jose M. Carbonell, Lehigh School of Mining Engineering '18, is in New York organizing a mining company to operate copper mines in the Andes Mountains of Colombia, South America.

'17. George C. Mercer has left Rutgers College to attend the Philadelphia Textile School, Philadelphia, Pa. His father owns a large bleachery, and the "mercerized" process of treating cotton was invented by one of his family.

'17. Eddie Hayes has been discharged from the Navy and is entering Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh this fall.

Ex-'17. Tom Loomis, Eddie's chum, is just out of the Navy too, and is also entering Carnegie Tech. While in the Navy he sustained a bad fracture of the hip by getting caught by the side of a life-boat in bad weather. Bill Hazel, who was track coach at Rutgers when Eddie and Tom were in Prep, is assistant resident coach there, and also head of physical training.

'18. William Hughes, Jr., is a sophomore in Stevens Institute. He dropped in before opening of school to see his old friends.

Ex-'18. Russell Houghton entered Amherst College this fall, after graduationg from Andover in the spring. He has entirely recovered from the illness which made him drop out of Prep, and spent last summer in getting practical experience in the shipyards at Hog Island, Philadelphia.

Ex-'19. Vincent Olson was in town early in September calling on members of the faculty. Vinnie has ambitions to enter college after a very successful career in the Navy, where he attained a rank of junior lieutenant, junior grade, in naval aviation.

Ex-'21. Aaron Johnson was married September 4 and went to Montreal on his honeymoon. He is now a railway mail clerk between New York and Washington. He is living in New Brunswick.

Exchanges

DORRANCE HUBBELL.

This is rather a difficult month for the exchange editor, as no fall numbers of the various school papers have been received at this printing. However, as we must earn our pay, we will make a comment or two on some old spring numbers of several papers that we have received. Next month it is our hope to have a large number of exchanges, and we will do our best to look over as many of them as possible and offer criticism or commendation as the case requires, trusting that our brother schools will do the same. Truly, this is the only way in which we may know how to improve our paper.

The Cutler Fortnightly, Cutler School, New York. Excellent as far as it goes, but why not a little more? A personal or two and a few criticisms by your exchange editor would help.

The Targum, Rutgers College, New Brunswick. Good, as usual. (If it were otherwise we would not dare say so, for we'll all be freshmen by and by.)

The Phoenix, Pawling School, New York. Some fine stories. Glad to see a few write-ups in the exchange department, for in many papers they are few and far between.

The Kent Quarterly, Kent School, Kent, Conn. Your Prize Day Issue is very good—in spots. The editorial entitled "The Quarterly and Other Papers" is a bit high-brow, but nevertheless it's true, although a little so-called "trash" occasionally does no harm.

The Orange, White Plains High School, White Plains, N. Y. W. P. H. S. is a "live" one I should say. I think I should have the privilege of criticizing the exchange department, since I know the editor personally. I am not able to criticise it very much, for I could find no department, but I would suggest there be one and that it contain a few write-ups on other papers.

If all school papers would have a "Contents Page" or an "Index" it would be a great help. (I'm hitting home now, but please, Mr. Editor, it's true.)

tacklers. Dana Scudder and Kuhlthau will play the tackles, and few in the state are better than either. Chamberlain and Watari have first call at the guard positions, and Ray Scudder at center. All are hard pressed by several men, including Moore, Hill, Beekman, Hansen, Kollmorgen, Neefus, Danforth, DeVoe and others. Competition for places is so keen that each man must work his hardest to make good.

The interest throughout the school is much better, and with the very able assistance of Mr. Overbagh and Mr. Jerome, I hope to turn out a team worthy of comparison with any that Prep has ever had.

ODZZENENDZ.

Senior: "How can I get some cider?"

Freshie: "Squeeze your Adam's apple."

Yarnell (talking about Milltown): "You fellows ought to see some of our country preserves and jellies."

Van Wagoner (from New York): "That's nothing. You should see some of our subway jams."

"Did Hubbell ever go out for athletics?"

"Why, yes. He holds the record for jumping at conclusions."

While walking down College avenue in the rain Scudder saw two handsome young ladies.

Scudder: "Oh, boy! Look at the chickens. They'll get wet without an umbrella."

Hill: "They're not chickens; they're ducks."

Mr. Cook (at dismissal): "I don't see how so many of you can talk when you have nothing to say."

Mr. Cook: "Geometry comes hard to you, doesn't it, Chase?"

Chase: "Why, no."

Mr. Cook: "Well, then, it doesn't come at all."

First Nut: "Yes, they have cut glass at the restaurant where I eat."

Second Nut: "Is that so?"

First Nut: "Sure; you cut your mouth every time you take a drink."

OATH TAKEN BY YOUNG ATHENIANS WHEN ASSUMING RESPONSIBILITY OF CITIZENSHIP

We will never bring disgrace to this, our city, by any act of dishonesty, or cowardice, nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks. We will fight for the ideal and sacred things of the city. We will revere and obey the city's laws and do our best to excite a like respect and reverence in those above us who are prone to annul and set them at naught. We will strive unceasingly to quicken the public sense of civic duty, and thus in all these ways we will transmit this city, not only not less, but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

Judge of the tree by its fruit!
Judge of our clothes by their wear.
Moneyback if you want it.
The best of everything men and boys wear
