No. 1.

A GHOSTLY ADVENTURE.

When asked to tell his most exciting adventure a physician related the following story to me.

"When I was a surgeon at a hospital in one of the small islands which surround Cuba a patient came to us in a nervous state of mind. It was a girl, an orphan, of dark complexion and very beautiful. We took great care of her and I became interested in her case. There seemed to some mystery surrounding this girl's life.

"One stormy night, while in my room, the indicator in the hall began ringing furiously. I paid little attention to this but in about five minutes the orderly came in with an expression paler than was natural. Noticing this I asked him if he had answered the ring and if I was wanted. To my surprise he said he had not answered. I asked him what the trouble was and he said that No 63 had rung.

"Well, what of it?" I asked.

"That is the room where the strange girl is staying and I am afraid to go alone."

"Then I remembered that room 63 was in the annex to the hospital. This annex was connected by a long passage and thinking he was afraid to traverse this I got up saying 'I will go, and unless you are a coward you will accompany me.'

"To this arrangement he willingly complied. Picking up a lamp I led the way down the dimly lighted corridor to the annex. When we reached the passage we could hear the wind howling frightfully and the thunder seemed to shake the house. I must confess that I did not blame the orderly for not wanting to go but I plucked up courage and we proceeded on our way. After a walk, which seemed to me unusually long, probably on account of the condition of the night we reached room 63. As I opened the door my light was extinguished and something flew over me. I was startled. But to my great relief I discovered it to be nothing more than a sheet. Tearing this off I groped for the electric light which I soon found. I turned on the switch.

"What a sight met my eyes! The window was wide open. Things were blown all around the room. The wind, most likely, had blown the sheet over me. I shut the window and looked toward the bed. There lay the fair brunette, her eyes closed, her hair dishevelled and her right hand grasping the bell. Never have I had such an uncanny feeling as when I had seen this dead girl (for dead she was) and my orderly, who had fainted, stretched on the floor.

"I got back to my room but how I do not remember. I was so weak that I could do no more than stagger to bed and there must have lost consciousness for I do not remember anything until sometime the next day when I opened my eyes and saw a nurse bending over me.

"At that moment the head surgeon came in and to him I told my story. He was deeply impressed as well as greatly surprised at the narration.

"After two days in bed I was able to get up. I learned that the girl had been buried without the cause of her death being verified. The orderly was himself again but came to me as soon as I could see him and asked if I would give him recommendations as he intended to leave. I understood the poor fellow's feeling and gave him the best of references. I progressed rapidly toward health and was soon as strong as ever.

"I had nearly forgotten about the death of the girl but was so forcibly reminded of it that I never forgot the case.

"One night after everyone, myself included, was in bed the indicator in the hall began to ring. I tried to sleep but no one answered the ring so I got up and went to the indicator. The little arrow pointed to No. 63! No one had rented this room as it was kept closed. You may well imagine my feelings. I pressed the rod that threw the arrow into its former position and went to bed but had no sooner made myself comfortable than it rang again. I was angry and could not understand it but got up and again replaced the arrow and went to bed. Ding a ling a ling! Dinga ling a ling. I was furious and jumping up I rushed out to the hall and drove my fist through the glass front of the indicator. I accomplished nothing, except cutting my fist badly, because that bell continued to ring.

"I went into my room and lit a lamp. Taking this I went quickly along the corridor to the passage. The wind seemed to howl as furiously as a caged lion and the thunder reminded me of a night when I passed here before.

"When I reached the door to room 63 and was about to open it, to my horror, it slowly opened. You may easily believe that my hair stood on end, my eyes became like saucers, and my heart seemed to have forsaken me.

"In the doorway stood the beautiful brunette who had dwelt in this room. She beckoned me to enter, which I did. Then she related the following story to me.

"Many times have I tried to make known to you the cause of my strange death but you would not understand so I beguiled you here to-night. The orderly poisoned me because I refused to marry him and would not notice him. He was so enraged at me that he sent me a glass of poisoned milk which I, not suspecting drank. You will find the broken tumbler and a bottle of poison in the radiator behind my bed."

"With these words (as I remember she vanished and I must have gone back to bed although I remembered nothing until morning, I thought I had had a horrible nightmare but glancing down at my fist I saw a deep gash, I again lost consciousness and did not leave my room for a week,

"When I left my room the first thing I noticed was the broken indicator. I also saw some drops of blood on the floor. Then I slowly walked along the hall toward the annex. I saw a drop of blood here and there, probably from my fist. When I reached room 63 I stopped. gingerly I opened the door but there was nothing to alarm me so I entered. Looking in the radiator I found the poison and broken glass.

"Perhaps you wonder what happened to the orderly. We did not take the trouble to find him as the evidence was not strong enough to convict him. You have now heard my most startling adventure and I hope never to pass through another one of that sort."

This story may sound fictitious but the physician in question will answer for its veracity.

We all hope to pass our tests with as much satisfaction to our teachers as did Mary in the following story at a contest.

The judges had marked the examinations papers and gave out the following statement of their work. "All the papers were good and do credit to the scholars but the work of Mary Blake is exceptionally good. Although she missed the point in nearly all her answers, her wonderful intellect can easily be seen in her replies."

All communications should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief, R. P. S., New Brunswick, N. J., and must be accompanied with the name of the author.

Correspondents will confer a great favor by writing on one side of the paper only.

Officers of the school, students, and alumni are most cordially invited to contribute.

The new Argo Board takes up its work with the present issue. This year the editor was elected by the popular vote of the school. He has appointed his own board with the consent of the faculty. Thus the school knows that they have an editor whom they can trust to do his best and the editor has a board working in perfect harmony with himself.

We hope this year to make the Argo a true representative of the school and in order to do this we ask all the students to contribute. We need a stronger editorial department and we invite you all to write editorials on any topic which you think needs attention. Every contribution will receive careful consideration. Probably the department most interesting to the average student is the athletic. This department will be greatly improved. Nothing makes a paper so interesting as bright, original jokes. If anything happens in the different classrooms which may seem funny, make a point of sending an account of it to the editor. The work done for the paper will be made the basis of the appointments to the next Argo Board. Show your school spirit and aid us in making the Argo a paper of which we may be proud.

The 143d year of the school opened on September 16th with a good attendance. There was an almost entire change of faculty only Mr. Lewis, Miss Biles and Miss Searle remaining from last year. The new members of the faculty quickly won the respect of the students and all have proved themselves to be fine teachers in their respective branches. Dr. Payson found a worthy successor in Mr. Scudder who, after some difficulty with the schedule soon had the school running smoothly. The scope of the school work has been widened and several innovations have been introduced. Extemporaneous speaking is encouraged and an acquaintance with the current events of the day is required. All these things, combined with the willingness of the pupils to work, not only in preparing their lessons, but also for the good of the school generally have thus far made this year very promising.

Owing to the resignation of Dr. Eliot R. Payson to accept a place in the faculty of the college, Mr. Myron T. Scudder has become head-master of the preparatory school. We cordially welcome him, and trust that he may find us willing to aid him, in every way possible, in keeping the school up to the highest standards of efficiency. Mr. Scudder is a Rutgers graduate, class of 1882. Soon after leaving college he began to teach and from head-master of the Normal school at New Paltz, he has come here. From a circular the following is quoted. "Mr. Scudder has filled most successfully various important school positions, and now ranks among the foremost educators of the day. His exceptional ability as a teacher and as an administrator, his large experience and wide reputation, his marked power with boys and young men, his strong christian character make him an excellent head-master."

It has been suggested that we form a Glee club and an orchestra. It seems as though this can be successfully done. In the singing at chapel, many good voices are heard and if these are properly trained to sing in concert, there is no reason why we should not have a fine Glee club. Mr. Scudder was one of the prime movers in organizing the Rutgers College Glee club, and we are sure that he will help us in organizing one for the Prep. Mr. Fisher, our English teacher, has already had experience in leading an orchestra and he can give us valuable assistance in this line of musical activity. An orchestra would be very valuable in leading the singing at chapel. A Glee club is a fine thing to have, if only for the pleasure it gives. We will welcome any opinion regarding this plan. All large schools have Glee clubs and there is no reason why we should be behind the rest.

ABOUT THE SCHOOL.

An old student will notice a number of changes at the school. As he traverses the new walk around the school and glances up at the Annex he will immediately see Old Glory and as he enters the doorway of the upper school he passes under a new flag pole.

If he comes during the morning exercises he will notice new singing books but no one playing the organ, as the position has not been applied for yet. He looks in the ancient laboratory room but sees nothing except a long table surrounded by chairs.

He goes upstairs and walks into the old German room. What a pleasant sight greets his eyes. Never did he see the school with such a fine physics or chemistry laboratory or the boys more satisfied. He lingers here for awhile deeply interested in the experiments. When he finally leaves he wishes he were again in this school.

RUTGERS PREP. vs. HIGH SCHOOL.

The Prep.'s defeated the New Brunswick High School on Saturday, the tenth of October, at Neilson Field by the score of 11-0.

The game started promptly at three o'clock. Ziegler kicked off to Rogers who ran it back fifteen yards. High School made its ten yards through the line. Koehler then broke through and tackled Burke who dropped the ball, Koehler falling on it. High School then recovered it on a forward pass. By a fake kick Burke made a large gain around end. High School was forced to kick, White catching the punt. Ziegler gained eight yards and Morrison made first down on a forward pass. White sent a fine pass to Ziegler who gained ten yards. Then Turner netted fifteen yards. High School being penalized for offside and Ziegler gaining five yards placed the ball on their five yard line but Prep's lost the ball on a fumble. High School kicked to White he ran thirty yards before being tackled. Ziegler and Low made the required ten yards. Again the ball was on the five yard line, and again Prep. fumbled. The High School punted to White who missed the punt. The opponents fell on the ball, which we recovered by White's blocking a drop. Then Morrison made a pass to Ziegler who ran fifty yards for a touchdown. He then kicked a goal after which the High School received, but soon time was called. Score 6-0.

Second Half.

McCullum kicked off to Ziegler who was downed in his tracks but redeemed himself by making a twenty yard run around end and on the next play making twenty more by a forward pass. Prep. was then forced to kick. The punt went over the goal line. McCullum punted out to Ziegler, who ran it back twenty yards. High School got the ball on a forward pass but were soon held for downs. Preps gained steadily and finally White went over the line for a touchdown. Ziegler missing a difficult goal. He then kicked off to Burke who ran it back twenty yards. The High School made fifteen yards on a forward pass but were forced to give up the ball on account of downs. White made twenty yards on a forward pass but we lost the ball and our opponents gained eight yards but they were penalized for holding. On the next two plays, Burke netted thirty-five yards. Time was called with a score of 11-0 in favor of Prep. The line up was as follows:

Rutgers Prep.	High School.
	Right End.
Morrison	Atkinson
	Right Tackle.
Salzedo, (Conger)	Vanderipe

RUTGERS PREP. vs. BOYS HIGH.

In a closely contested game on Saturday, the third of October, the strong team of Brooklyn Boys High School defeated the Rutgers Prep. team on Neilson Field by the score of 5 to 4.

High School won the toss and chose the kick-off, while Captain Ziegler chose to defend the southern goal. Promptly at three thirty, Connors kicked off to Ziegler who ran the ball back fifteen yards. Prep. was soon forced to kick but on the next play recovered the ball on a fumble and after making thirty yards were again forced to kick. The High School team was held for downs and the ball went to Prep. who punted out of danger. The opponent's backs ripped up the line until on the five-yard line where our boys braced up just in time for the half ended before a touch-down could be scored. Score, 0-0.

Second Half.

Ziegler kicked off to Cayard who made a run of thirty yards. Turner then got the ball on a fumble but Prep. was forced to kick. Koehler regained the ball but we were again forced to kick. Prep. was then penalized for coaching from the side lines. High School by fast line plunges and end runs brought the ball to Prep.'s five-yard line and Seaman was pushed over for a touch-down but he missed an easy goal. Ziegler chose to receive and on a return kick Turner got the ball. On the next play he made fifteen yards. The ball was then on the High School's thirty-five yard line. Ziegler dropped back and sent a beautiful drop over the bar. High School punted out to White who made a twenty-five yard run. On a forward pass, Morrison gained ten more yards. Time was called with the score 5-4 in favor of the visitors.

Ziegler's kicking and Morrison's playing were easily the features of the game. The line up was as follows:

	Boys High.
Rutgers Prep.	Right End.
Morrison	Taylor
Blanchard, (Conger)	Hausen
Koehler	Torburg
Bissett	Gillmore, (Wolfe)
Folensbee	Haviland
Salzedo, (Keim)	Seaman

No person shall be allowed to wear "R. P." unless he has played three (3) full games or the equivalent thereof on the basket-ball team.

XIII.—DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

Section 1. The President shall preside over all the meetings of the Association and perform such other duties as may devolve upon him by virtue of his office.

Section 2. The Vice President shall perform all the duties of the President in case of absence of the latter.

Section 3. The Secretary-Treasurer shall keep a record of all the meetings, of all members of the Association, and of the funds thereof, shall render a written report of the same at each regular meeting, and shall see that the constitution is published at least once a year in the Argo.

XIV.—QUORUM.

A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum.

XV.—AMENDMENTS.

Section 1. This constitution can be amended only by a three-fourths vote of members voting at the meeting.

Section 2. All amendments to the constitution must be handed in writing to the Secretary-Treasurer, who will read them before a meeting of the Association at least three (3) days before they are voted upon.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

The A. A. opened its year with a membership of fifty. A subscription was taken up among the boys and about thirty dollars was thus added to the treasury.

President Low called a meeting for the purpose of electing a foot-ball manager. A. A. Prentiss was unanimously elected.

An amendment to the constitution was proposed to the effect that the managers of the different teams should be elected the season before. This was seconded and approved and the secretary will have it ready at an early date so that the managers for next season may be elected this season.

At a later meeting Knox and Searle were elected cheer leaders. President Low suggested that the dues be raised from seventy-five cents to a dollar. This suggestion was seconded and carried.

CLASS NEWS.

On September 27, at recess, the seniors had a meeting for the purpose of electing class officers, which are as follows:

President, F. H. Low.

Vice President, R. B. Searle.

Secretary, R. W. Turner.

Treasurer, H. F. Smith.

As a number of the fellows did not have class pins a committee was organized to see that emblems would be ordered for those who had none.

The juniors called a meeting at recess on September 28. Their officers are as follows:

President, R. T. B. Todd.

Vice President, E. S. Hoe, Jr.

Secretary and Treasurer, P. Ritter.

COMMENTS.

Koehler, if you used choicer language you might be taken for the god Hercules.

That was a nice tackle of Ziegler's when he threw their back on the five-yard line.

Did you see George Morrison, our end? Todd had better hustle.

Folensbee made a tackle that prevented a touchdown.

Do you think coach Smith was excited when he ran on the field at Ziegler's beckoning to him? We were penalized fifteen yards for this, yet why wasn't their coach kept off?

Turner made an elegant quarter-back run with Ziegler's help.

Captain Ziegler kicked a superb drop from the thirty-five yard line.
